8	Cont’l Cas. RICO ¶ 5(c).	“[Numerous Defendants including Abdullah Al Rajhi] utilized interstate and international faxes, telephones, wire transfers and transmissions, and the United States and international mails to facilitate, provide financial and material support and provide substantial assistance to Al Qaeda. The financial support and assistance provided to al Qaeda by [numerous Defendants including Abdullah Al Rajhi] assisted the business and financial transactions in which al Qaeda engaged to further its operations and purposes. Al Qaeda relied upon [numerous Defendants including Abdullah Al Rajhi] to generate material support to continue its terrorist operations and to conceal the nature and extent of financial assistance provided to al Qaeda. These activities assisted al Qaeda’s ability to plan over a number of years, orchestrate, and ultimately carry out the Attack that injured plaintiffs. The creation and maintenance of a financial network is essential to al Qaeda.”	Conclusory allegations are insufficient to state a claim. In re Sept. 11th , 349 F. Supp. 2d at 832-33.

The SAAR Network Entities . . . controlled by these defendants routinely moved around millions of dollars between them, with no innocent explanation for the layers of transactions taking place other than to obfuscate the fact that this money was going through these companies to offshore, untraceable banks on the Isle of Man, the Bahamas, and other locations, ultimately to support the Enterprise. . . . [Numerous Defendants including Abdullah Al Rajhi] directed funds through a series of other entities over which they had influence until those funds ultimately reached a shell company in the Isle of Man, where they could no longer be tracked by federal authorities. These transactions bear all of the hallmarks of money laundering in support of terrorism. Such money laundering, the filing of false tax returns, and tax evasion were all in furtherance of a conspiracy to commit murder and arson which culminated in the September 11, 2001 Attacks.”	claim. In re Sept. 11th , 349 F.
